

The proposal to expand the power of large media corporations to dominate outlets is outrageous. It obviously limits public access to a variety of opinion. Another example of less government and more big business. Proves again why business people should not be in government. Who is watching out for the public??